

Tenrikyo Mission Center in Singapore—Cultural Section—

Tenrikyo Mission Center in Singapore is a non-profitable organization originally registered with the Registry of Societies on May 5, 1971. The center was officially founded on April 18, 1972, and since then its cultural section has been providing the people of Singapore with various cultural events and activities, including Japanese language lessons.

The members of the Mission Center are able to participate in Japanese language courses and make use of our facilities, where they will improve their Japanese skills as well as gain a deeper understanding of Japanese culture. All lessons are provided by native Japanese instructors.

Please join us in savoring the joy of learning and exploring the future!
